Christine Georgopulo, owner of the Arthur Murray Grande Ballroom of Greenwich, conveniently located at 6 Lewis Street, downtown, Greenwich cites the endless benefits; "dance and the joy it inspires is universal- even the Surgeon General recommends dancing for your health! From exercise and wellness to stress reduction, to increased confidence, energy and strength, to weight loss and toning to fostering a new relationship, preparing for your first wedding dance or reviving a marriage -even Corporate Team Building - dance offers it all in a fun and social atmosphere".

The Grande Ballroom is a great place to meet new people and expand your social life with a skill that you can use at every party, fundraiser, corporate event, cruise, wedding, bar/ bat mitzvah - anywhere there is music, there is dance and anywhere there is dance, there is joy.

Ever community minded, the Arthur Murray Grande Ballroom of Greenwich proudly donates lesson programs to all the charity events in town and the surrounding areas. Additionally, they work closely with Greenwich Hospital offering a "Dance for Your Health" weekly complimentary group class for breast cancer survivors and their loved ones.

The Grande Ballroom offers private lessons for singles, couples and children/young adults, along with multiple nightly group classes and studio parties. While most people enroll to learn social dancing, there is a whole component that provides an opportunity to compete with various options from in-studio showcases to exotic destination competitions around the world.

Two, eight week classes will meet weekly, learning Latin and Ballroom dances during the Fall and Spring semesters of the regular school year. Tuition will be $20 per Future Leader, per class, paid in full up front, as a demonstration of commitment and honor .

We will welcome young ladies and gentlemen from ages 5-16

From the Office of the Chairman

Future Leaders consists of social dance and etiquette training designed to positively affect the development and social integration of each child; inspiring them to have respect for themselves and others, learning to take the lead both on and off the dance floor and making those around them as comfortable and as confident as they have learned to be, all in a fun, new and exciting supportive atmosphere. In essence, they will learn to lead by example.

Every week each Future Leader will be scored on the class materials including, but not limited to, the Arthur Murray Dance Syllabus, attendance, punctuality, specific and designated areas of social etiquette, and the ability to lead, follow and contribute both on and off the floor. At the end of the term, all scores from each grade will be tallied identifying a male and female Future Leader from that grade.

At the end of each eight week term, we invite parents, friends and family to enjoy an end of term dance performance and party. Each Future Leader will graduate with pride and honor.

Yours in dance,
